Dave & I hope that everyone had a safe holiday season. We sure enjoyed the holidays with the kids. We all went on a family vacation the first time ever for Christmas. In some ways it was nice but it sure felt funny to be away from home. With Ashley's school and our Sport Show schedules Christmas is our only time to get away together. Dave's mother, my mother, Jon, Kasey, Ashley and her boyfriend James came with us.

We are having an old fashion winter this year. Lots of snow and when it is not snowing we are getting bitter cold. As I write this letter today the temperature is -30 F and we have 3 Deer playing in the bay. I am guessing they are happy that hunting season has come to an end. Season closed on the 15th of December here. Jon and Dave got there Deer no bucks just Does. The ice conditions never improved for Dave and Jon to get to Deer Lake for my Bull Moose to mount.

Dave has brought the Super Cub down to the base here in Nestor Falls. Jon and Dave plan on doing some winter flying this year if it ever warms up. The sport show schedule will keep us busy this January but February should be good for them to get some time built up. It is nice having a plane parked in front of the base it was looking pretty bare there for awhile.

Nestor Falls was struck with a blow when a young man of 18 was killed in a hunting accident. This really got me thinking how fragile our lives really are and how important it is to spend time enjoying our families, friends and trying to make a difference in this world of ours. We can always make more money but we can not make more time. With this thought Dave and I came up with the Canadian Outback trip. Whether your child is thirteen or thirty, there are few trips that mean more to them than the one they spend with their family and what better place but the Canadian Outback. Our Outback Trip is based at one of our 12 remote fly-in outposts where you can enjoy the entire lake to yourself. Enjoy the beauty of the Canadian North without having to worry about sharing the fish. Sit back, fish, relax and enjoy your time with each other making memories. The Sport Shows start this month. Some of our shows will be overlapping so we are splitting up the shows between Dave, Michelle, Jon and Mike leaving Kasey to man the office. We do have dates left open for the upcoming season. If you are thinking of going fishing this summer we look forward to earning your business.
